Send also a mail to mario.dewolf@ucll.be once you have done your application

3. English language qualification

In case you have an official English language qualification (IELTS or TOEFL), provide it to LSBU.

In case you haven't any official English language qualification, record a movie in which you present yourself in English. You can use the personal statement for that.

Upload this movie on YouTube or any other video channel and send the link to that movie together with the chosen programme to mario.dewolf@ucll.be.

4. Conditional and Unconditional offer

A while after LSBU received your application, you will get a conditional offer. This means that you will be accepted on the condition that you passed all subjects of the Banaba programme without tolerated fails. With that conditional offer you will get access to the accommodation market.

As soon as you get your results in July, send a copy to the person in charge at LSBU. Your conditional offer will be converted in a unconditional offer.

In case you respect the deadline of 15 May, your conditional offer will probably be ready before the start of the summer break. Applications handed in after 15 May will be accepted, but will probably be handled in September.

5. Tolerated fails

Students who graduate the Banaba programme with a tolerated fail - but would like to start the master - need to reject their diploma within the 24 hours after receiving their marks online.
